

Recognising outstanding learning in religious education

RE Quality Mark

Press Release

XXXX school gains national recognition for high quality learning in religious education.

xxxx school has achieved a xxxxx award for the national RE Quality Mark. The REQM recognises high quality learning in religious education. The subject leader/co-ordinator xxxx (name) at xxxx school said, 'This was a rigorous process which helped us to think about what we are doing well in RE. An important part of the REQM is that an assessor visits the school and talks to the learners about their experiences in RE'. These are some of the things which pupils/students at our school had to say:

e.g.

'RE is interesting, and sometimes you have to put a lot of effort into thinking about a good answer.'

'From RE lessons I have learnt about ethics. This has taught me how to make choices and what is morally right and wrong.'

'I have been taught about many religions which are different from my own. This has given me an understanding of others' views and beliefs.'

'I do like learning in RE, because I like to know why other people believe in God.'

Talking about achieving the award, xxxx the subject leader/co-ordinator said, 'I think the fact that children were involved in the process was invaluable as it is very evident very quickly whether they love and actively engage in R.E. The REQM enables us to drive forward the message that we are committed to ensuring high quality R.E. takes place in our school and the benefits of this.'
